Canadian hogs purchased by Sweden

These Canadian hogs purchased by Sweden will be shipped overseas.

The Yorkshire were secured to introduce new blood to a swine population that is feeling the effects of close breeding.

Sweden turned to Canada as a country making similar hog performance tests to determine: (1) Rate of growth; (2) Feed utilization; and (3) Carcass desirability. Testing has been carried out in this country since 1928, according to J. G. Ledford, Livestock Production Division, Canada Department of Agriculture, and it involves over 2,000 pigs a year.

Canadian records were studied by Gunnar Trusson, secretary of the Swedish Pig Breeding Association and technical adviser to the Swedish Government, before he inspected a number of herds in July.

He selected eight herds and five sows, nine in Ontario and four in Prince Edward Island. Nine owners were involved.

Rigid specifications were set by the Swedish breeders for leanness, fast growth and low feed requirements, and Mr. Trusson made certain they were met.

Health requirements were also high and one of the reasons Canada was chosen was because of its disease control measures and freedom from foot-and-mouth disease.

William McMillan, of Toronto, and Harold Clay of Charlottetown, Department of Agriculture District field men, were guides for Mr. Trusson and organized assembly of the pigs for shipment, so air out of Montreal.

A one-day test period was scheduled for the hogs at the Montreal stockyards.

One spark deadly

Even static (inert) electricity is a divided fire cause, especially in hospitals or wherever there's flammable gas. While someone has figured that it would take 1,752,200,625 strokes of a cat's back to light a 50-watt light bulb for an hour, a single electronic spark, such as can be produced by rubbing a comb through the hair, is sufficient to blow up the place. For this reason even celebrated surgeons are discouraged from wearing woolen trousers in hospital operating rooms.

Canadian Sisters in Nyasaland

Canadian Sisters from various parts of Canada help to staff a mission school and hospital at Kasene in central Nyasaland. The Sisters all speak French and English fluently as well as the local native dialect, Chitumbuka. Above, Sister Superior Marie de Lourdes of Montreal extends a friendly greeting to a young patient whose mother has brought him to the well-run modern hospital for treatment.

An enthusiastic class of students sings to the accompaniment of a native drum as they go through their morning exercises. Girls study a variety of academic subjects and receive training in a wide range of handicrafts.

A new baby receives his official "weighing in" as a young

African girl who is being trained as a nurse's aid looks on.

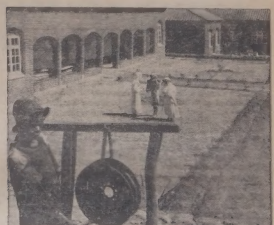

Students demonstrate a native dance reminiscent of the Scottish sword dance. The dance, which is performed to chanting and hand clapping, calls for nimble footwork.

Two little girls perform a native dance to the delight of Sister Imelda (left) whose home is in Lelchell, Manitoba, and Sister Marie de Fatima of Les Cedres, Que.

BACK TO SCHOOL, back on the job. Fall is a time for new clothes. They'll stay new longer if properly cared for. The crease in a pair of wool trousers or slacks will stay crisp if they are properly hung up and rested between wearings. This is the right way. Use an inexpensive pant hanger, leave lots of room for air to circulate and unwanted wrinkles in the resilient wool fabric will disappear. It practically grows itself.

An African workman strikes the gong which summons the native workers who help run the hospital and school.

Sister Imelda, chats with a native child—one of many who find the Canadian-run mission a pleasant place to visit.

You can do it yourself and here's a check list!

Want to check yourself on "strong" spots of your home? Here's a pretty good checklist for you:

Basement:
Rubbers, disapproved joints above furnace and smoke pipe.
Utility gas pipe.
Attic to wooden cabinet.
Sagging smoke pipe; defective joint.
Joints facing on brick chimney.
Cul pipes or waste.
Paint and patches.
Exposed wood lath.
Gasoline stored in tank in house.
Motor car with defective fuel or ignition.
Knotted any electrical line, meter, supply fuse, system.
(Also in connecting garage or workshop).

First Floor:
Oil or gasoline stove (screen stove). Wood box close to stove.
No metal have shield protecting wood floor.
Curtains close to stove, stove pipe close to ceiling.
Matchbox close reach of children.
Electric connection. Canning Sauce Oil heater.
Collapsible wire.
Sweepings in registers.

Second Floor and Attic:
Electric plug and hang on wall.
Haphazard wiring, loose wires, frayed, frayed.
Uninsulated or paper-covered live wire.
Offset chimney. Chimney on bracket.
Outdoors:
Moss-covered or curled eaves.
Chimney high enough above roof. Wood exposures above chimney.
Soot in chimney.
Radio or TV antenna improperly grounded.

Figures show death pattern

The death of children and women by fire in Canada each year follows a strikingly similar pattern, as shown by these classifications reported for the last three years:

	1957	1956	1955
Children	257	233	247
Women	131	120	129
Men	250	238	194
Totals	648	601	569

Estimated populations for each year, considered from the standpoint of the same deaths for the year:

1955-15.6 millions
1956-16.0 millions
1957-16.3 millions

Portable oil space heater hazardous

If you use a portable oil space heater in your home, remember that it represents a definite fire hazard. It should be set absolutely level and should not be tipped around from room to room while burning. Changes in draft are liable to cause explosion. Canada's fire departments are not equipped with a fire of a more permanent type of heating unit.

SPARKY SAYS BE CAREFUL WITH OIL STOVES!

Oil stoves can be dangerous if not used correctly! They should always be kept clean. Don't wait—have them fixed immediately if they are not working properly. Make sure the stove is turned on and off according to the directions. Also follow the instructions when filling with clean oil or kerosene. If you gamble with fire—the odds are against you!

SUPPORT LOCAL MERCHANTS

WELCOME

Reporting on the remarkably pleasant cooperation encountered in its voluntary home inspection program, several Saskatchewan communities find only a fraction of one percent of households unready to discuss their housekeeping in terms of fire. "Admired, fearful or ignorant" is how the fire fighter, hoping for better luck next time he knocks, views such a reaction.

HELP KEEP OUR FORESTS GREEN

but be sure you see them again!

Children home alone, the youngest ones especially, would be helpless to escape if fire should strike while you're away.

This tragedy happens every day and actually is the cause of one out of every three child fire deaths.

Never leave small children alone. Even if it is necessary to leave the house for only a few minutes ask a neighbor to stay with the children. And whenever you must go out for a longer time, have the children in the care of a baby sitter who not only has been told what to do in case of fire but who is also physically and mentally capable of carrying out such instructions.

DON'T GIVE FIRE A PLACE TO START!

Truth, please!...

Suppose this is a picture of your wife and child, fleeing fire in your home.

And suppose somebody asks you: Will their chances of escape be better if you wife doesn't panic? In other words, if she uses her head?

Sure, you reply.

But also suppose you are asked: What started the fire? Was somebody careless? Was it you?

Was it?

A horrible death

Death by fire is a horrible way for anyone to die, and the survivors are permanently scarred in mind or body. It is doubly tragic that so many victims are little children who are unable to protect themselves and who had relied on grown-ups to preserve their safety.

WOMEN BACK FIRE ATTACK

Wives of the fire chiefs, the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Canadian Association of Fire Chiefs enlist the support of the nation's womenfolk in helping to direct greater attention to the common cause of fire in the home. The formal resolution at annual conference, offer supply of information was made to other organizations of women, seeking to encourage a wider understanding of the "simple rules of fire safety."

Which Extinguishers Are Best for the Different Kinds of Fires

Fire emergencies occur by the thousands every day—your turn to meet one may be just around the corner!

WHAT ARE FIRST AID FIRE WEAPONS

"Approved" extinguishers are the best weapons for fighting small fires. They are made to throw a stream of extinguishing agent for a sufficient distance, so the operator can stay safely away from the fire. They can be handled by one person, and if properly maintained, they are always ready for use. The extinguisher discharge can be aimed exactly where it will do the most good, in contrast to water in a bucket which cannot be thrown any distance with accuracy. They are designed only to fight fires—so they are unlikely to be in use for some other purpose when an emergency occurs. And, where a certain class of fire may be expected, you can have a type of extinguisher that is most suitable for that class of fire.

For a free pamphlet describing different kinds of fire extinguishers, their use for the three types of fire, and the methods of operation and care, write to the Office of the Fire Commissioner, Administration Building, Regina, Sask., and ask for pamphlet "Put That Fire Out."

$5.86 'Blot'
now $8.18

If not the worst, at least one of the best of any nation known. That's Canada's fire loss record, per head of population. An international summary made in 1932 by the United Nations report showed this country ahead of a dozen others. Our per capita figure was $5.86, and the U.S. $4.56, compared with an average of $1.20 for 49 European countries.

While no further report has been issued by the UN or other authority, Canada's very per capita figure has steadily worsened. For 1957 it was $8.18.

Culling the Dairy Herd

Lethbridge Experimental Station
Weekly Letter.

By DAVID CLARK

Fall is the time for the dairyman to appraise his dairy herd and make adjustments in herd size to meet his requirements. Culling should be carried out before the cattle are placed in winter quarters. It is more profitable to take good care of the milking herd and replacement stock than to overwork all the cattle. Before reducing his herd the dairyman should consider his milk quota, feed supplies, housing conditions, and the number of replacement stock needed.

Tests conducted at the Experimental Farm, Lethbridge, have shown that cows vary greatly in their rate and efficiency of milk production. When efficiency is measured by the pounds of milk digestible nutrients (D.N.) required to produce a pound of fat corrected milk, the variation ranges from 50 to 65. In all cases high efficiency is related to high production and low efficiency to low production. Some records on the milk production of each animal should be kept. Although the weighing of each cow's production one day a month will provide an adequate record for culling the low and inefficient producers, it is more advantageous to use one of the recognized herd testing schemes. Low producers should be the first cow culled from the herd.

Tests have shown that cows calving in the fall and winter produce more milk and produce it at a lower feed cost than cows calving in the spring and summer. Cows producing at low rate, and are ones that will not raise for several months, should be culled from the herd if replacements are available. Cows which are predisposed to milking with fever, irregular bleeding, or other abnormality should be culled if possible.

Surplus young stock should also be discarded. Heifers from the best cows or best families are the kind to retain for replacements. All breed heifers ought to be pregnancy tested and those that are not in calf and are over two years old, sold. It is better business to sell them this fall than to feed them all winter for spring sale.

The aim of selection is to make the animals in the next generation better than those in the present one. It is based upon the laws of inheritance. Accurate performance and breeding records enable a dairyman to accurately evaluate his herd and thus eliminate the unsuitable ones.

Colombo Plan Aid

The announcement that Canada would increase its contribution to the Colombo Plan from $35 million a year to $50 million a year with assurance that the latter figure will be maintained for at least three years, came as a good omen to grain farmers. Last year Canada exported nearly 24 million bushels of wheat to India, 2.1 million to Ceylon and 34 million to Pakistan. Part of this was in the form of gifts. The major part was moved under Colombo Plan aid. The increase in Canada's commitment to the Colombo Plan should ensure continuance of substantial movement of wheat to these Far Eastern countries over the next few years.

Clean-up Quiz

- ☐ Do you regularly dispose of trash and rubbish?
- ☐ Do you keep the grounds around your home free of debris, weeds, trash and dried brush?
- ☐ Are your down spouts safely clogged and do they drain in safe outdoor containers?
- ☐ Do you keep your home tools, machinery, motors and appliances serviced and clean?
- ☐ Have you replaced all worn or frayed electric cords?
- ☐ Are your matches kept in a safe place and do you have plenty of ash trays?
- ☐ Is your roof covered with a fire resistant material?
- ☐ Do you co-operate with charity drives for paper and trash, to give your own-off clothing, furniture, etc., or contribute it to a salvage agency?
- ☐ Do you have your chimney and heating system cleaned at least once a year?
- ☐ Do you invite your fire department to inspect your home periodically to help you spot fire hazards?

If you answer YES to all of these questions, YOU are one of those clean houses that " seldom burn."

Every week across Canada

fire strikes or at least 1,000 homes, turning a family sanctuary into a shantytown. Check your home regularly for fire hazards.

Fire Prevention is simple

... it's your part of good citizenship.

FIRE FACTS FOR ALL

ABC has a special meaning to the fire services. In the field of fire prevention it stands for Always Be Careful, the symbol of safety from fire which has been distributed to every part of Canada. ABC, Class A fire and Class B fire respectively describe fires in ordinary materials, flammable liquid fires and electrical fires. Now the atomic age takes in form of the alphabet? Class C fire involving radioactive hazards.

"We left them alone... only for a few minutes"

You may go to jail for two years if, wantonly, you leave a child exposed to fire. That's the Criminal Code of Canada and there are various provincial penalties for callous neglect of the innocents.

For a compassionate community there is no sadder news than death by fire of children in the home. And the shadow deepens when the headline reads "We left them alone only for a few minutes..."

For the stricken family, the shadow lasts a lifetime.

No child (and, for that matter, no very old person) should ever be left alone. This is a vital Fire Department message, and it is backed by every resource of the Association of Canadian Fire Marshals and the Canadian Association of Fire Chiefs, not just at Fire Prevention Week, but throughout the year.

There is a tragic moment to many of the fires in 1957 fires in which children were left alone in the house... Four lives sacrificed, murther out.

create a spark, ignite gas vapors, and cause explosion.

The Fire Chief has information on child protection. If you do a fair amount of baby sitting, call him. He'll be delighted to hear that you mean business and, that he him, you are deeply concerned with the welfare of your charges.

Statements by ACFM, CAFCA

Jointly by Wm. C. W. A. McCallum and Fire Commissioner J. B. Brown, representing existing and training Personnel, Association of Canadian Fire Marshals and the Canadian Association of Fire Chiefs.

"The Fire Marshals and Commission of Canada, entrusted with the most sacred trust of the fire protection of citizens, co-operate this effort to direct wide national attention to the serious situation of fire home presented in 1957. We believe that public education can have most satisfactory results. We gratefully acknowledge the magnificent support and encouragement given us in the program."

Chief J. B. Brown, President, Canadian Association of Fire Chiefs, and Chief J. B. Brown, President, Canadian Association of Fire Chiefs, and Chief J. B. Brown, President, Canadian Association of Fire Chiefs.

AVERAGE WEEKLY WAGES
Official figures of Dominion Bureau of Statistics show that average weekly wages in Delia Windsor, Ontario, were 12.4 per cent higher in June of this year (latest month for which figures are available) than in June of 1967. Employment in Windsor, Ont., according to same DBS sources, was 21.2
per cent below the level of June 1967.

Windsor is highly industrialized, highly unionized.
Official statistics of employment and mounting unemployment seem to demolish Big Labor's claim that wage bargaining is available to those who are victims of "compulsory unemployment."

Windsor isn't only community where wage increases and unemployment go hand-in-hand. DBS figures show that in June of this year, 1968, in one major city, average weekly wages in June of this year were up anywhere from 1.8 to 12.4 per cent above 1967 levels.
In 1967, in sixteen of these communities, all across Canada, unemployment was down anywhere from 0.4 per cent to 21.2 per cent below June 1967 level. Consumer prices in same period rose sharply in ten of major cities listed in DBS table.

Higher wages, higher prices, higher joblessness—this is the equation of wage inflation.

One of the most intriguing propositions in a long time is that put forward in some quarters in support of wage increases. It is that all-round wage increases should be granted because 'they are necessary to boost consumer purchasing power and restore the economic boom.'

The theory, seemingly, is that with more money in our possibilities we could spend more, thus creating new demand for consumer products. And that.

in turn, would make for increased employment.
It's a beautiful thought, so much so that we are moved to wonder why Ottawa doesn't arrange for the banks to issue, say, $1,000 in cash to every Canadian. That, surely, would produce a nation of dollar-happy consumers.

Why, then, don't the powers that be, in both industry and government, swallow so attractive a prescription, book line and sinker?

Can it be that there is a catch in the good-consumer purchasing power by making more money available argument, a fatal flaw overlooked by its advocates?

In short, could it be that such a policy, unsupported by any increase in real wealth, would soon result in our dollars being worth little more than dimes?
